

Alliance Française Dublin
1960-2010

Submissions now open for the inaugural Alliance Française Photography Award

Submissions deadline: September 1st, 2010

Submissions are being sought from artists of all nationalities and living in Ireland, with a particular interest in photography, for an exhibition from 26 November 2010 until 12 February 2011, inspired by the particular multi-use context of the Gallery of the Alliance Française which is also a café space.

All submissions are welcome, and particular consideration will be given to those which site their proposed artworks or interventions within the structure of the room itself. All submissions should respond to ideas located within photographic representation, which can be understood as a self-contained body of work, or a direct response to the space itself.

Submissions should include:

- 5 images of proposed artwork for exhibition. Prints should be unmounted and of A4 maximum size with name on the back of each print and no identifying marks on the actual print side.
- Up to 5 images of previous work. Prints should be unmounted and of A4 maximum size with name on the back of each print and no identifying marks on the actual print side.
- Text description of the proposed artwork (max 500 words) for the competition exhibition, including details of how it is to function in the space, and the conceptual outline of the artwork.
- Artist's CV, and full contact details, including email and telephone.

Submissions due: September 1st, 2010 (no entry fee).

Artists will be shortlisted from the open submission for the competition exhibition (Alliance Française Dublin 26 November 2010 - 12 February 2011) by the Advisory Committee of the Gallery of the Alliance Française.

Shortlisted artists will be responsible for producing ready to install exhibition prints or equivalent.

A winner will be selected from this exhibition.
